Highlights

- The attrition rate from the teaching profession between 1987-88 and 1988-89 was 5.6 percent in public schools and 12.7 percent in private schools.
- The rate at which public school teachers of general education subjects left the profession varied little by field. Science and math teachers, in particular, were no more likely to leave the teaching profession than teachers of other general education subjects such as English, reading, and social studies.
- Teacher attrition varied by teacher's age. The rate for public school teachers in the 50 or more age category was 9.8 percent; the rate in the less than 30 age category was 9 percent. In the 40 to 49 age category, the attrition rate was 2.3 percent.
- Almost all public school teachers who changed schools between school years 1987-88 and 1988-89 transferred to other public schools (92.6 percent), while only half (48 percent) of the private school teachers in 1987-88 who changed schools stayed in private schools (52 percent transferred to public schools).
- Among former public school teachers, 27.2 percent cited homemaking and/or child rearing as their primary occupation status in 1988-89. Another 24.8 percent said that they were retired. About 35 percent of former private school teachers said that they were working in an occupation outside of elementary or secondary education; another 30 percent said that they were engaged in homemaking and/or child rearing.
- About 18 percent of public school teachers who left the teaching profession between 1987-88 and 1988-89 and 12 percent of private school teachers who left in the same period expect to return to teaching in any of grades K through 12 in school year 1989-90.
- About two-thirds of public and private school teachers who stayed in the same school between school years 1987-88 and 1988-89 felt that "providing higher salaries or better fringe benefits" is the most effective step that schools might take to encourage teachers to remain in teaching. However, among former public school teachers who cited "dissatisfaction with the teaching as a career" as one of their main reasons for leaving the profession, 7.3 percent cited "poor salary" as their main area of dissatisfaction, while 26.4 percent cited "inadequate support from the administration" as their main area of dissatisfaction.

Characteristics of Stayers, Movers, and Leavers:
Results from the Teacher Followup Survey, 1988-89

Introduction

These tabulations on characteristics of movers, leavers, and stayers present data from the 1988-89 Teacher Followup Survey (TFS), a followup of a sample of public and private school teachers who responded to the Teacher Survey component of the 1987-88 Schools and Staffing Survey (SASS). The data presented include characteristics of teachers who left the teaching profession between school years 1987-88 and 1988-89 (leavers), teachers who changed schools during that period (movers), and teachers who stayed in the same school (stayers). In addition to characteristics of stayers, movers, and leavers, the tabulations include estimates of teacher attrition by field of assignment, reasons for leaving the teaching profession, and comparisons of former teachers' current occupation with the teaching profession. This report provides national estimates for all data.

The Schools and Staffing Survey and the Teacher Followup Survey were developed by the U.S. Department of Education's National Center for Education Statistics, and were conducted by the U.S. Bureau of the Census. The SASS was a mail survey which collected public and private sector data on the Nation's elementary and secondary teaching force, aspects of teacher supply and demand, teacher workplace conditions, characteristics of school administrators, and school policies and practices. The seven questionnaires of the SASS are as follows:

1. The Teacher Demand and Shortage Questionnaire for Public School Districts (LEAs).
2. The Teacher Demand and Shortage Questionnaire for Private Schools.
3. The School Administrator Questionnaire.
4. The Public School Questionnaire.
5. The Private School Questionnaire.
6. The Public School Teachers Questionnaire.
7. The Private School Teachers Questionnaire.

The Teacher Followup Survey was also a mail questionnaire which collected followup information on a sample of public and private school teachers who had participated in the SASS. The purpose of the TFS was to determine the attrition rate for teachers, to determine the characteristics of those who stay in the teaching profession and those who leave, to obtain major activity/occupation data for those who leave the teaching profession and career patterns for those who remain in the profession, to obtain data on educational activities and future plans, and to obtain data on attitudes about the teaching profession and job satisfaction. The two questionnaires of the TFS are as follows:

1. Questionnaire for Current Teachers.
2. Questionnaire for Former Teachers.

The survey methodology is described in the Technical Notes section which follows presentation of the tables.

Technical Notes

Sample Selection

Teachers were selected for the Teacher Followup Survey based upon their participation in the 1987-88 Schools and Staffing Survey. The following sections describe how schools and teachers were selected for the 1987-88 SASS, and subsequently for the Teacher Followup Survey.

Selection of schools for SASS

The public school sample of 9,317 schools was selected from the Quality Education Data (QED) file of public schools. All public schools in the file were stratified by the 50 States and the District of Columbia, and then by three grade levels (elementary, secondary, and combined). For each stratum within each state, sample schools were selected by systematic (interval) sampling with probability proportional to the square root of the number of teachers within a school.

All 3,513 private schools in the private school sample received both a Teacher Demand and Shortage Questionnaire and a Private School Questionnaire. The private school sample was selected primarily from the QED file of private schools. Since this list of private schools did not fully cover all private schools in the country, two additional steps were taken to improve coverage. The first step was to update the QED file with current lists of schools from 17 private school associations. All private schools on the QED file and the lists from the private associations were then stratified by state, grade level, and affiliation. Sample schools were then selected by systematic (interval) sampling within each stratum, with probability proportional to the square root of the number of teachers. The second step was to include an area frame of schools, contained in 75 probability selected Primary Sampling Units (PSUs), each PSU consisting of a county or group of counties. The PSUs were stratified by Census geographic region: Northeast, West, South, and Midwest; Metropolitan Statistical Area (MSA) status (MSA or non MSA); and private school enrollment (two groups). These PSUs were selected from the universe of 2,497 PSUs with probability proportional to the square root of the PSU population. Within each of the 75 PSUs, a telephone search was made to find all eligible (in scope) private schools, using such sources as yellow pages, Non-Roman Catholic religious institutions, local education agencies, chambers of commerce, local government offices, commercial milk companies, and commercial real estate offices. Roman Catholic religious institutions were not contacted because QED calls each Catholic diocese during its annual list update. All schools not on the QED file or the lists from the private school associations were eligible to be selected for the area sample. Most of these schools were selected with certainty.

However, when sampling was performed, schools in the area frame that could be contacted were sampled with probability proportional to the square root of the number of teachers, and those that could not be contacted were selected using a systematic equal probability sampling procedure. A private school was declared out-of-scope and excluded from the sample if it did not have any students in any of grades 1-12, if it operated in a private home that was used as a family residence, or if it was undetermined whether it operated in a private home and its enrollment was less than 10 students or it had only one teacher.

Selection of teachers for SASS

All 56,242 public and 11,529 private school teachers in the teacher samples were selected from the 9,317 public and 3,513 private sample schools. A list which included all full-time and part-time teachers, itinerant teachers, and long-term substitutes was obtained from each sample school. Within each school, teachers were stratified by experience; one stratum included new teachers, and a second stratum included all other teachers. New teachers were those who, counting the 1987-88 school year, were in the first, second, or third year of their teaching career in either a public or private school system. Within each teacher stratum, elementary and secondary teachers were sorted by subject. Elementary teachers were sorted by General Elementary Education, Special Education, and other; Secondary teachers were sorted by Mathematics, Science, English, Social Science, Vocational Education, and other.

The public and private school teacher samples were each designed to include a basic sample and a Bilingual/ESL(English as a Second Language) supplement. The Bilingual/ESL supplement treated as one group teachers who use a native language other than English to instruct students having limited English proficiency, and teachers who provide students having limited English proficiency with intensive instruction in English. The supplement was funded by the Department of Education's Office of Bilingual Education and Minority Language Affairs (OBEMLA) in order to obtain more reliable estimates of Bilingual/ESL teachers.

The basic sample of teachers was allocated to the sample schools in each stratum so that the teacher weights were approximately equal. The specified average teacher sample size for each sample school (4, 8, and 6 teachers for each public elementary, secondary, and combined school, respectively, and 4, 5, and 3 teachers for each private elementary, secondary, and combined school, respectively) was then allocated to the two teacher strata to obtain a 60 percent oversampling of new private school teachers. New teachers were not oversampled in the public sector. Finally, an equal probability systematic sampling scheme was applied to select the basic sample within each school. The Bilingual/ESL supplement was selected independently from the basic sample, and was designed to provide estimates for California, Texas, Florida, Illinois, New York, and all other States combined. Within a school containing Bilingual/ESL teachers, teachers were selected systematically with equal probability.

The sample sizes were as follows:

Basic samples
Public	54,340
Private	11,412
Bilingual/ESL supplement samples
Public	2,258
Private	183

Bilingual/ESL teachers selected in both the basic and supplement samples were unduplicated so that each teacher appears only once in the combined sample of Bilingual/ESL and all other teachers.

In the data collection phase of the survey, a subsample of nonmail returns (57 percent of nonmail returns) was followed up by telephone during April, May, and June. This subsample had their weights adjusted to reflect the subsampling.

More detailed information about the sampling will be available from a forthcoming technical report.

Selection of teachers for the Teacher Followup Survey

Within each public stratum, responding SASS teachers were sorted by Census Region by Urbanicity by Teacher Subject by School Enrollment. Within each private stratum, responding teachers were sorted by Affiliation by Urbanicity by Teacher Subject by School Enrollment.

After the teachers were sorted, teachers were selected within each stratum using a probability proportional to size sampling procedure. The measure of size was the SASS basic weight (inverse of the probability of selecting a teacher in the SASS teacher sample). This sample allocation yielded a total sample size of 7,172 teachers, 2,987 leavers and 4,185 stayers and movers.

Data Collection Procedures

The Census Bureau was the data collection agency for the Teacher Followup Survey, which took place during the 1988-89 school year. The TFS was conducted in two phases. The first phase consisted of contacting schools to determine present occupational status of teachers who were selected for the teacher sample in the 1988 SASS. In late October, the Census Bureau mailed the Teacher Status Form to 11,584 schools (8,733 public and 2,851 private) nationally. The school principal or head was asked to complete the form, indicating whether the teacher was still at the school in a teaching or non-teaching capacity, or had left the school to teach elsewhere or for a non-teaching occupation.

Phase II of the TFS commenced in March 1989. The first questionnaire, Questionnaire for Former Teachers, was sent to 2,987 sample persons who were reported by school administrators as having left the teaching profession. The second questionnaire, the Questionnaire for Current Teachers, was sent to 4,185 sample persons who were reported as still teaching at the elementary or secondary level. Both questionnaires were mailed to teachers at their home addresses. The respondents were requested to complete the questionnaire and return it to the Census Bureau.

For respondents who did not return a questionnaire within four to five weeks, the Census Bureau conducted a second mailout. The telephone follow-up of all nonrespondents to the second mailout began in May 1989. Field follow-up of nonrespondents closed out on July 7, 1989.

Survey Response Rates

The following table summarizes the overall weighted response rates for the Teacher Followup Survey.

	Total	Public	Private
Total	97.2	97.3	96.0
Former Teacher form	93.5	93.6	93.1
Current Teacher form	97.4	97.5	96.6

Item Descriptions

The Questionnaire for Current Teachers (stayers and movers) is shown in appendix A-1. The Questionnaire for Former Teachers (leavers) is shown in appendix A-2.

Item Response Rates

The following table is a brief summary of the weighted item response rates for the items from the two questionnaires of the Teacher Followup Survey which are presented in these tables.

	Range of item response rates	Percentage items with a response rate of 90% or more	Percentage items with a response rate less than 80%	Items with a response rate less than 80%
Former form	86-100%	97%	0%	N/A
Current form	78-100%	96%	4%	13 (E)

The teacher followup survey was not imputed for item nonresponse. Item nonresponse in the tables is shown by rows labeled "not reported"; other items had 100 percent response.

Standard errors

The estimates in these tables are based on samples and are subject to sampling variability. Standard errors were estimated using a balanced repeated replication procedure that incorporates the design features of this complex sample survey. The standard errors provide indications of the accuracy of each estimate. If all possible samples of the same size were surveyed under the same conditions, an interval of 1.96 standard errors below to 1.96 standard errors above a particular statistic would include the universe value in approximately 95 percent of the cases. Note, however, that the standard errors in the tables do not take into account the effects of biases due to item nonresponse, measurement error, data processing error, or other systematic error. Selected standard errors are presented in tables 13 through 18. Standard errors for other estimates are available upon request.

Definitions

Teacher

A teacher is defined as any full-time or part-time teacher whose school reported that their primary assignment was teaching in any of grades K-12. Itinerant teachers were included, as well as long-term substitutes who were filling the role of a regular teacher on an indefinite basis. An itinerant teacher is defined as a teacher who teaches at more than one school.

Leavers

Leavers are SASS teachers who left the teaching profession between school years 1987-88 and 1988-89.

Movers

Movers are SASS teachers who moved to a different school between school years 1987-88 and 1988-89.

Stayers

Stayers are SASS teachers who stayed in the same school between school years 1987-88 and 1988-89.

Public School

A public school is defined as an institution which provides educational services, has one or more teachers to give instruction, is located in one or more buildings, receives public funds as primary support, and is operated by an education agency. Prison schools, schools operated by the Department of Defense and the Bureau of Indian Affairs were included.

Private School

A private school is defined as a school not in the public system that provides instruction for any of grades 1-12 where the instruction is not given exclusively in a private home. Schools which provided instruction for grade K were included if they also had any of grades 1 through 12.

Elementary School

An elementary school is defined as a school which has no grade higher than 8 and at least one grade of 6 or below.

Secondary School

A secondary school is defined as a school which has no grade less than 7.

Combined School

A combined school is defined as a school which has at least one grade of 6 or below and at least one grade of 9 or above.

Acknowledgments

The draft manuscript of this report was reviewed within the Department of Education by Debra Gerald, Statistical Standards and Methodology Division, and John Grymes, Data Development Division. Iris R. Weiss, Horizon Research, Inc., and F. Howard Nelson, American Federation of Teachers served as external reviewers. Carol L. Antishin of Pinkerton Computer Consultants prepared the tables in final form. Marilyn Miles McMillen, Elementary/Secondary Education Statistics Division, was the mathematical-statistical consultant for the report.

Information About Public Use Data Tape

The estimates presented in this publication may differ very slightly from those produced from the public use data tape for the Teacher Followup Survey due to a revision of the final weight in the fifth decimal place on the tape. These differences are small relative to the standard errors of the estimates which reflect sampling variability. For example, a few of the percentages listed in Table 1 of this publication may vary by one-tenth of one percent, but most of the percentages will not change. In Table 4 of this publication, the total estimate of 2,052,383 stayers will show up as 2,065,839 on the tape. This difference of 13,456 stayers is small relative to the standard error of 55,896.

SECTION I — EMPLOYMENT AND TEACHING STATUS

- 1. Of the following, which is your current PRIMARY status and which, if any, is your current SECONDARY status? Primary and secondary status is defined in terms of the amount of time you spend on each during the normal work week. If your time is equally divided between two occupations or activities, e.g., you are retired but have returned half time to teaching, list either one as primary and the other as secondary.

Select only one primary and one secondary status code.

- 1 Teaching in an elementary or secondary school
- 2 Working in an elementary or secondary school with an assignment OTHER THAN teaching
- 3 Working in an occupation outside of elementary or secondary education
- 4 Attending a college or university
- 5 Homemaking and/or child rearing
- 6 Retired
